What Happened to Mrs. Watson?

Before - with crown's feet and deep circles...

It all began when this columnist looked in the mirror.

"Oh, dear," I said. "What I saw were deep circles beneath my eyes, frayed lines and - god help me - a few crow's feet."

Those steps led to Mrs. Sue Belmonts, a cosmetic and makeup artist with the Cosmetic Connection. Mrs. Belmonts, who lives at 2014 E. Lida, Arlington Heights, is a good advertisement for her work. Her makeup doesn't look made-up.

Sue took me quite literally in her kitchen because she's a small-time operator.

"Rate," Mrs. Belmonts said, smiling. "This won't cost you a cent."

It didn't cost either. The first step, that of cleaning my face with a cotton pad dipped in a special toner.

"I HAD TO be careful, though, to apply the substance. I managed my face in a downward motion, which Mrs. Belmonts corrected.

"Use upward and outward strokes," she said. "Otherwise, you may encourage the wrinkles to get deeper."

It was time for a toner, a mask and a retractable stick designed to correct blemishes.

"Now, let's see," Mrs. Belmonts said. "What kind of liquid makeup shall we use?"

"I like a light color," I said, "but I'm not sure about a tan, though I'm satisfied in this color."

"You look like this color," she said, and so it was.

NEXT CAME ROUGE. "A very light touch," she said. "I had to admit it looked good, filling in my rather pale cheeks."

"Powder," something else I'd never used, blend-erifically over the base.

My eyes were a little too close together. She was able to make them look much larger and more widely separated with a shadow stick.

Also, the eyes were a light cyan color and she curled my eyelashes with a brush.

WHEN IT came time for lipstick, Mrs. Belmonts had right away what she wanted - or what she thought I wanted.

"Use a light color," she pronounced. That sounded good, like something to eat. It was nearly dinner time and I was very hungry.

When she finished, we both looked at me in the mirror. Mrs. Belmonts' 2-year-old twin sons also looked at me.

Those verdicts were unimpeachable.

Back at the office, the wifes were definitely unimpeachable.

"How are you, Mrs. Watson?" asked the news editor, looking straight at me.

"I'm fine, thank you," I said.

"The managing editor looked at my face, then at me and then at the wifes.

"It's not much of a comment," I thought.

THE REAL TEST was yet to come - I had to try the glasses on me.

"How do you like them?" I asked.

"Um, um," I said, stammering. "I look pretty, but you don't look like me."

"No, that's not what I meant," he said. "I mean, you look so um, sophisticated, that I don't feel comfortable."

He wasn't the only one in the household who didn't know all the remakes of the glamor were washed off, the ones who wouldn't come near me.

Season Finally Starts for Cards, Still Too Early

The baseball season finally opened for Arlington High School over the weekend, and from the results it appears that the inevitable delay might have helped.

It is at 8:30 a.m. Cardinals dropped a pair of games to exhibitions from the Pittsburgh Pirates in a rain and now hampered that, the Cards are owing to Philadelphia 7-4 Saturday.

Coach Fred Somers was not overly pleased with the loss, "I learned a lot in the two games," he said, "but I have to make judgments, now is our time to have them done."

St. Viator 9 Dumps Foe With 2 Hits

Bob Stevens pitched St. Viator High School's nearly unbeaten team to a 9-2 victory Saturday, breaking Glenbrook South's winning streak.

Stevens, who had pitched and walked out, but struck out 13 Glenbrook before it was his turn, and had two hits.

The St. Viator offense didn't give him much support, but managed to pack a punch in the ninth, when the final inning. The Lions had scored first in the initial three frames, but had an inflated error in the seventh.

With none out in the ninth and with the last out, outfielder John Loughman drew a walk. He was replaced and went to third on a wild pitch and to third on a wild pitch and went to third on a wild pitch.

Still with one out the Glenbrook South pitcher, who had just one hit, Dan Collier rifled a shot that was off the glove. Stevens, who had been unable to score on the hit, but two Collier brought him in with a grander to the top.

The Lions had only two hits in the ninth, but Stevens and Collier getting them.

THE LIONS open their Chicagoland Prep League season against St. Joseph at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the 100th anniversary of the C.P.L.

Cochran Spradlock will probably start Jerry Durante for the Lions, who are a no-hitter at Ridgewood last Thursday, getting St. Viator's second win of the campaign.

Now Eddie's Eleven

Swimmer's Life Changes with Age

By BOB CANTERLINE

Suddenly the times have turned hard for Ed Lane, but that the 11-year-old is learning more, mental than physical, personal problems—it's just that he's faced with starting all over again in swimming.

Ed was one of Arlington's only offensive players Saturday, getting two of Arlington's three goals.

THE BIRTHDAY arrived Saturday, but Ed's 11th birthday was not to be. The boy was born on March 30 of this year, Ed, who was 10 at 10:30 E. St. James dominated the boy's 100-yard butterfly, with his 10-year-old brother, Tom, second, and two of Palatine's remaining swimmers third and fourth.

THE BIRTHDAY, the arrival of his 11th year, was not to be. The boy was born on March 30 of this year, Ed, who was 10 at 10:30 E. St. James dominated the boy's 100-yard butterfly, with his 10-year-old brother, Tom, second, and two of Palatine's remaining swimmers third and fourth.

The scope of the challenge becomes apparent when his 11-year-old brother, Tom, is compared. Last month

Ed made it in a Chicagoland meet in Wilmette, taking two firsts, and one second, and one third.

His firsts came in the 100-yard butterfly and the 100-yard backstroke. The second was in the 100-yard individual medley, and the third was in the 100-yard butterfly.

However, all that came when he was 10.

Came April 10. Palatine's Arthur Atkinson won three in Arlington and the situation changed.

While Ed's 11th for the same distances were about the same as his 10-year-old, they had been when he was swimming the 100-yard butterfly, the times weren't nearly as satisfying.

HE PLACED fifth in the 100-yard butterfly, but in the 100-yard backstroke he was 11th, and in the 100-yard individual medley he was 12th. He didn't even qualify for the finals in the 50- and 100-yard freestyle events.

While Ed's 11th with the 100-yard butterfly was not as good as his 10-year-old, he was 11th, and in the 100-yard backstroke he was 11th, and in the 100-yard individual medley he was 12th.

Ed started swimming when he was 3, with his father, Jim, the time he began to swim, he began to swim competitively.

Mr. Lane is the son of Phil.

During the summer he swam with the Park West team in Arlington Heights.

He is currently enjoying a few weeks off from competitive swimming, but will begin to practice May 24 to prepare for the first big meet of the year, the State meet at Broadview June 25.

Ed's swimming practices will start Aug. 1, when he'll get some time off again until the State meet.

WHAT DOES the future hold for Ed? "I'd like to be a high school, and in college," he says. "I have already started the family business."

Is Romance Dead? Beverly And Roger Find the Answer

BY FRANK E. MURRAY
"Romance is dead," said the bride. "I can't go home and try again tomorrow," said the groom.

"You do not," said the bride.

The bridal party decided on the spur of the moment that they could not find a judge.

At midnight the bride, the groom, and their two sons were in Arlington Heights at the Arlington Heights Police Station. They had planned to be married at the home of Roger Spitz's mother, Mrs. Kenneth Key.

They stopped at the Englewood Station, the bridegroom, and the groom, to speak with Officer Roger Spitz, the bride, and Judge Roger Spitz, the first magistrate willing to answer the call. Buckley was in Chicago on business but he had called to say he would be there when the bride was still willing when he arrived he was still willing.

Beverly Tyne of 1165 Waterman had planned to be married at the home of the prospective bridegroom, Roger Spitz.

At 11:30 the bride, the groom, and their two sons were in the home of Kenneth Key.

They stopped at the Englewood
Station, the bride, the bridegroom, and the groom, to speak with Officer
Roger Spitz, the bride, and Judge Roger Spitz, the first magistrate willing to answer the call. They tried Glenview, then Niles. Next they tried Park Ridge, then Skokie, then the Mount Prospect. No luck. Judge Spitz was not home or not in the office. Buckley had agreed to serve as a magistrate for the judge at the depot.

The judge was as prompt as the bride and groom.

He was smartly dressed in his business suit, and name pinned to his lapel. He was wearing a second floor court room he offered to do his robes.

He was wearing a dark suit with gray socks. Ties, belt, his shirt open at the collar, his hands in his pockets. The best man, sister, too. The best man, sister, too.

The ushered bride wore a single strand necklace with big blue sapphires.

BY NOW it was 12:15 and the train was due. "I caught in the spirit of the moment," said the bride. "I wanted to be married to him."

"Romance is dead," the best man had said. But that was because he was at the home of the bride and groom at 30 Waterman.

"I can prove you man and wife," Judge Buckley said when it was heard he had been married.

"I am a magistrate," he said. "I can prove you man and wife."

South Jr. High Bids Exceed Funds

BY ROBERT E. MURRAY
A problem of no enough funds is being considered by a committee of the South Jr. High School Board.

At the board's regular meeting yesterday, the committee, headed by E. C. Schaefer, recommended that the bid opening be delayed until the fall. The bid was $100,000 to $175,000, or nearly 75 percent more than the amount offered in the budget.

CLABOUGH told members that there were serious shortfalls in the South Jr. High School project at this time and that the bid would not be opened until the fall.

He said that the project for South Junior could go over the $100,000 mark and that members could be delayed until the fall to the school's 500th improvement work on Dryden

School and finish the South
Jr. High School project at this time. The bid was $100,000.

ACOMMITTEE was formed, composed of South
Jr. High School board members Howard Clark and Chuck Beaman, to recommend a date for the fall opening.

The committee will report to the board Thursday, April 21.

At the board meeting, Schaefer approved personnel recommendations authorizing the hiring of a new teacher and the promotion of a school year and approved Carl Beaman's recommendation for employment of a new teacher.

Beaman is in his second year as the supervisor of mathematics and the supervisor of science teachers to work one week each on the elementary and junior high schools, the kindergarten, and the grades, a junior high school teacher, and a teacher of high school science curriculum.

Official in William George Murphy to court in Nile Monday morning when his preliminary hearing for murder was delayed until May 14.

Hearing in Slaying Delayed Until May 16

By JACK A. YANDERSON
Cpl. William George Murphy, accused slayer of James E. R. Jones, was in Court Tuesday morning today awaiting a hearing on murder charges.

Murphy, dressed in civilian clothes, stood silently in Nile branch of Circuit Court Monday, awaiting his hearing. At 10:30 a.m. Chapman Blackley, granted his attorney, a delay in preliminary hearing.

Lonore Murphy, his bride of 25 years, stood at the rear of the courtroom, her face swollen from crying. She had spent the night with her son, Robert of Easter morning in the Milwaukee Av. Sheriff's office, where he was held under questioning about the death.

The 31-year-old Palatine accused, later, when questioned by police, signed a three-page confession that he had slain Miss Froster, a former girl friend, after she had demanded that he leave her.

SHERMAN: Magedon and David Cohen represented Murphy. Magedon said he and his co-counsel had been told they were called into the case Sunday after Sheriff's Office agents had obtained a signed confession from the soldier stationed at the Arden Hills Army post.

Magedon, who said he was not of the conviction, had a row with the wife of Charles E. Murphy, 31, on Saturday night. He had only three minutes to dispose of his case with Murphy prior to Monday's hearing.

State Atty. Roselli Neppas said he had been unable to get the state would agree to a delay, but he said the state had filed a motion for a continuance and Murphy had agreed to a delay and requested that the 21-year-old soldier be held without bail.

Judge Buckley agreed and

Some Day

The fat and corpulent white man who thought the Cheyenne Indians a lesson in civilization.

The Cheyenne haven't been a problem since the Custer Massacre. The government, "tried" them the West Plains with all its belligerence, but the Cheyenne estate in southeastern Montana. It takes 20 acres to feed one Cheyenne.

The 1,500 Cheyenne live in tents in the hills in a tent and poverty to all they know.

The Cheyenne have always been losers. When the whites shamed them out of Niobrara, they staked the Black Hills. That was good, until gold was discovered and they

They retreated to the plains and the whites followed, started shooting Buffalo for sport. Then the Cheyenne started to fight back, but they didn't stand a chance.

The Cheyenne went on to more important problems, like financing the purchase of the land that the Cheyenne was left to his own devices.

Twenty per cent of the people

Cheyenne children don't eat enough today. There isn't that much food.

The Indian school at Arlee, Mont., gets all public or government support. The Indians pay $1,000 a head for 50 children. It now enrolls 375.

They are not getting any better for the wife. The people are getting older, but not older than the age of 21, but the life span is 30 years less than the white man.

Twenty per cent of the people don't have a home to live in and unemployment runs from 40 to 60 per cent.

The white man ought to be proud that the "lesser" Indians are the ones who have the worst lot, worst clad and most housed group in the United States.

Lately the Cheyenne have shown signs of recovering from their pride. They are going to school to learn trades and the Indians have started on the reservation.

The situation should be watched closely. Cheyenne and again, Washington may have to send the Army to teach them better ways.

"We will report national meetings of Negro Scholastic Association, Arlington Heights State Representative who is reading an excellent speech, and public officials. Committee told Larry Johnson, principal of Franklin High School, that he is an active member of the Negro Education Association.

What Scholastic was referring to was the endorsement of Democratic State Rep. Eugene Chapman for re-election to the House and endorsement of Dr. Frank Marshall, principal of the school board.

Scholastic took measures to make the school teachers and administrators who belong to the Illinois Education Association come politically involved.

The group's endorsement of Mr. Chapman was the first political action directly concerned candidates. Other members also believe that the endorsement of Dr. Smith and Frank Marshall was the first educationally oriented body.

SCHOLASTIC's point is a good one. When does political action begin with one's professional life?

In the case of the federal government, it is when a strong law is driven by the Hatch Act. Federal civil service employees are entitled to a federal government employee participation in personnel policies.

The federal government means what it says. The rules hold for everyone from the postman to the president. The postman delivering mail depends upon which side of the fence you happen to be on.

Political, political patronage is a natural part of the smooth running of political organizations (machines, if you prefer) and the more power or patronage there is the more the machine that runs the government grows up the works of government.

IN THE 1964 state campaign for secretary of state two masters of the use of patronage and patronage (municipal employees) is the secretary of state and the state treasurer.

The campaign was a difficult campaign issue — but both candidates understood the idea of patronage and its importance to his base.

The secretary of state's role is not to represent William Scott. He has requested that his office be placed under civil service department.

The secretary of state's office (except for the City of Chicago, where patronage is still a major factor in all municipal employees) is the secretary of state's most undesirable patronage power.

Unfortunately, the secretary of state's office is the one that has the most extensive patronage power.

HISTORICALLY, the majority of state government — and hard to do — is political officeholders.

His base of political officeholders is the 2,000 percentage point increase in his power.

Even with teacher endorsements, only 10 per cent of the teachers in Illinois are in the state's employ.

When we have a couple of thousand teachers in the state government, it is time to check the voting rolls and find out how many teachers are registered to vote.

There are, of course, available public records.

Certainly, the secretary of state has more patronage power than a postmaster.

But perhaps the important point is that the secretary of state should be hurt by his involvement in politics — even at the school board level.

DOCTOR SAYS

Blood

W. G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Blood has been called the fluid tissue. The more it is marvelled at, the more its marvels are appreciated. Careless handling of blood, via the red cells was the first of many important discoveries to be discovered.

These same cells, with a small amount of water, carry tissue wastes to the liver, kidneys and skin to be eliminated as carbon dioxide, urine and sweat.

The white blood cells form the body's natural defense system through their power to engulf invading bacteria and viruses. And, more numerous than the red cells are necessary to the proper functioning of the circulatory system.

The plasma or fluid part of the blood contains the nutrients which are the products of digestion. The plasma is derived from proteins, the globulins, which contain sugar, starch, the lipids derived from fats and the salts which are the minerals required in the process of metabolism. In addition the plasma contains immunoglobulins derived from the glands of immune system. These antibodies against disease and, for instance, the antibodies involved in allergic large homologous.

A number of diseases are caused by "spider veins." This birth defect is fairly common and is the result of a failure of the valves in the veins to not allow the blood to come at once through the valves in the vascular column.

The size of the veins in the condition varies widely. It depends on (1) whether the failure is in the veins of the vascular canal (or canal) or in the peripheral veins, (2) whether the vascular column in the defect is (generally speaking, the lower extremities) or the upper extremities, (3) whether the defect is a single or multiple, (4) whether it contains a valve or valves, (5) whether it is (often fatal) or only spasm (and, (6) whether the capillaries which are the tiny blood vessels in the skin are involved in this membrane. (below) — or by a thickening of skin.

The condition is so slight it is found only in the veins of the eyes, and other condition. Such a defect is called a varicose vein.

On the other hand a child with a knot, well-covered with skin, is a person who will finally die with a severely leaking heart because of the failure of the doctor's intervention because digitalis is of value in the treatment of coronary heart failure. But it is not complete, so it is necessary to have a bypass operation.

Knowing the blood type of a donor is important, but it is not necessary to have a compatible donor. In addition to getting blood from a donor of the same blood type, it is necessary to test the blood by cross-matching, making a donor of one's own race and recipient and studying the reaction of the two bloods.

If the two bloods are incompatible there will be a reaction, but it is not necessarily fatal.

The reaction (shock and cold sweat) occurs as the result of the rapid destruction of the red cells.

Such an incompatible donor should not be used.

It is extremely true of women who have morning sickness that they are unable to digest because of vomiting. Depressants like digitalis are helpful.

It is also true that women who have morning sickness because of vomiting, depressants like digitalis are helpful.

Friends and News

Perhaps you have wondered, where some of the stories that appear in The Day originate. Most of them, of course, are written by our staff members — and some of them — and excellent ones — come from our readers.

This situation is complicated, from a newspaper's standpoint, by the fact that school news is subject to individual boundaries. An Arlington Heights resident might attend any one of four schools, but his news item in our paper's coverage is multiplied fourfold while its school time is divided fourfold.

We make every effort to get school news into our paper, space permitting. All the schools are helped by sending news items from them. Some of their major activities, honor rolls, etc.

It is obvious to us that the combined efforts of our staff and the school administration are the best help for all the activities involving thousands of young people.

The Day wonders what our policy is on news from Prospect High School.

Simply stated, our policy is to print stories from the school, news items from the school no matter where it occurs.

Perhaps we have a lack in our coverage of the school. And, if we have, it has not been intentional.

District 214 is building new schools at a rapid pace; each high school becomes a center of activity involving hundreds of students and parents. Naturally, a newspaper is interested in this.

And this is where The Day comes in. It upon its friends, its parents and its community to whom the work of the school is done.

Let us know what is going on, ask the school officials and teachers to include their mailing lists. We will do our best to cover the news.

What About Prospect High?

Editor:

Would you please print your stories and reports and covering news on Prospect High School in the Arlington Heights Daily Herald? (The name of the school is on the wall.)

We live in Arlington Heights and our children attend Prospect High School. There are quite a few of us at this side of town.

We would like to see more news on the school and its activities.

The 'Documentation Of Pretty, Patient Models'

The Coffee Break awards for most patient and chearful news sources this week go to the young women who are mother, a teenager and a preschool youngster.

The models for Fashions by Faith, the April 27 style show of the Ladies Department of the Faith Evangelical Lutheran Church, were to be photographed and interviewed by this columnist at 11 a.m. last Thursday, April 17.

The models, who were photographed and interviewed, were soon joined with me and the television camera crew, and the three of us went to the studio to film the interview at least three times.

The models, from National Educational Television, visited the offices of the Day in person and were interviewed on newspapers. The director and I were interviewed, too, though if I were honest, I confess that I was more interested in the cameramen trotting along and the look of a woman's editor in action.

THE FIRST stop on my rounds that morning was at an auto repair shop just down the street from Fashions by Faith. Before the camera crew and I departed, I called the models to say I might be a few minutes late.

When I arrived, however, I was increasingly irate as the first interview, conducted in the auto repair shop, was over. The editor, a perfectionist, went on and on.

When we got to Fashions by Faith, the models — Mrs. Wagner, Mrs. Linda, Mrs. Linda's mother, Mrs. Linda's brother and Mrs. Linda's mother-in-law — were sitting patiently in the lounge.

Again, I made a video point.

"This was just a few minutes late," I said. "I'm sorry. Let me take pictures of you again."

It was wool brouche, she said, and I was about to teach her a lesson.

She was right, with all the cameras and the video camera, I had difficulty keeping a straight face.

Mrs. Wagner, luckily, was a good sport and headed the off-camera speech to a pointed manner.

THEN I questioned the 4-1/2 year-old models, who were dressed in their best, white dress made for her mother.

"I'm a pretty girl," said the 4-year-old, and took a look at the camera.

Again, I made a video point.

"This was just a few minutes late," I said. "I'm sorry. Let me take pictures of you again."

It was wool brouche, she said, and I was about to teach her a lesson.

When the editor finally decided to leave, I paid the bill and headed for the lounge chair.

"Get me about your outfit," I said to Mrs. Wagner.

She laughed.

with a polite but briefer. She made it in about a week, she added.

"Fine," said the director.

"Tell us about your outfit," she said, and I repeated her description.

"It's a third time, I had difficulty keeping a straight face.

Mrs. Wagner, luckily, was a good sport and headed the off-camera speech to a pointed manner.

THEN I questioned the 4-1/2 year-old models, who were dressed in their best, white dress made for her mother.

Card Thinclads Top Hinsdale Central

An angry band of Arlington High School track men rose up yesterday and rocked whoever stood around. It was Hinsdale Central's mistake to be in the wrong place at the time, and the Red Devils went home on their tails.

Arlington, which had lost to Palatine Saturday by a crushing 93-33 score, snatched seven places away from the Cardinals on Sunday and were sparked to the finish by senior Steve Ewart.

Ewart picked up three of the first-place ribbons, the 100-yard dash, 400-yard dash and 100-yard run. His 100-yard dash was 10.3, Palatine's 10.6 Saturday, with Ewart's 400-yard dash with a break of 132 feet, six inches.

Junior Gary Anton picked up the 200-yard dash, winning both the high and low hurdles and leading the 400-yard relay to an extraction to a clean sweep of both races.

Another first-place time in the 100-yard high hurdles was 16.5, and his relay with Anton, Anton, Ewart and Steve Ewart came in 21 seconds flat.

Senior Steve Ewart nipped a Hinsdale runner by one-tenth of a second to take first in the mile run, finishing in 4:46.4.

South Jr. High Bids Exceed Funds

By JEN BROWN

A problem of not enough funds is being considered by a unit committee of the Dist. 25 School Board.

At the board's regular meeting, held yesterday, Mr. Clegg reported that, after bid openings last Thursday for improvements at South Junior High School, it was discovered that the total low bids amounted to $79,000, or nearly $20,000 more than the amount allotted in the budget.

Chairman Harold Sotter and board members Howard Spiegel and Chuck Bennett, to review the bids, found no figures in the case.

He said that the project for improvements at the school, which had been awarded legal bid, would be to repair and paint the exterior of the school and certain planned improvements to the interior, including a future date in order to get the cost down to the allotted $60,000.

Another alternative, Clegg said, would be to delay the project until the fall, to repair the school and finish the South Junior High project all in one.

Board members voted to favor the latter proposal.

A COMMITTEE was formed, composed of board

Why You Should Own A Home

Did you know that your best social security is ownership of the address of your home? Here are ten reasons why:

SECURITY — The safe feeling that comes with ownership and the knowledge that your home is a safeguard against inflation. If prices go up, so does the value of your property.

INVESTMENT — Payments on your mortgage mean that you are buying something. With each payment, you own more and more.

TAX ADVANTAGE — Your real estate taxes and the interest on your mortgage or land contract are deductible when you figure your income tax.

FINANCIAL INDEPENDENCE — More people have started on the road to financial independence through home ownership than in any other way.

STANDING — When you own a home you are a solid part of the community. You feel that you "belong".

CREDIT — Home ownership gives you substantial credit rating.

ENVIRONMENT — Your children have a proper neighborhood in which to grow up. Your family finds itself among responsible people with backgrounds much like your own. You establish roots.

CHARACTER — Responsibilities of ownership develop business acumen, appreciation of financial independence and self reliance.

PEACE OF MIND — Knowledge that provision has been made for your growing family.

SATISFACTION — Pride of ownership; the chance for do-it-yourself projects, large or small; the backyard barbecue, the picture of your own home on Christmas cards — these are the heartwarming things of owning your home.

Age Important in Estate Planning

A client's age should determine the speed at which he moves in estate building, suggests the author of an article in a new bulletin of the (International) Traders Club.

The club is the exchange division of the National Institute of Real Estate Brokers, which is an affiliate of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

The age of the client is of primary importance because the younger the owner, the more risks he is generally able to assume, declares Robert Maurice, editor, San Marino, Calif., author of the article, "Tax Factors in Estate Building" and sponsor of the bulletin, "Tax Implications in Exchange."

"Owners from 25 to 40 years of age can chance a risk of loss better than owners who are about to retire because a loss by the younger owner can be recouped during his wage-earning years," explains Mr. Edging.

TAX AND economic factors must also be given careful consideration in a determination of how fast estate building should proceed, says the author.

"Generally speaking, the higher the tax bracket the more the owner can benefit from depreciation deduction," he advises. "For example, the question may arise as to whether an owner should jump from a $100,000 property to a $200,000 or $300,000 property. Obviously, he will get considerably more depreciation from the larger property, but if his tax bracket is quite low the extra depreciation may not mean much to the client: On the other hand, for a client in the 50 per cent tax bracket, the extra depreciation deduction available will not only keep most of the income from the property tax-free, but, in addition, may generate a tax refund from ordinary income."

"Accordingly, the higher the tax bracket and the younger the owner, the faster he should usually move in building his estate. The young professional man who can afford to own a property offering an appreciable income and who could add money each month to carry a property, would also, by means of this large percentage of depreciation, probably generate a tax refund against his business or professional income. On the other hand, owners in their late fifties or sixties should be more conservative in their leverage requirements and for the most part should not have anything more than a first mortgage."

ESTATE BUILDING can be accomplished with a variety of types of property. The owner may stay with one type throughout, or start building one type or he may switch back and forth from improved to unimproved, from property with no management in property with considerable management, he explains.

"Typically, the young estate builder will choose a property which might require a little more management now, but which will be in late years," the author says. "The younger owner will have more energy and probably more time to take care of his property."

Full-size basement closet provides storage for out-of-season clothes of an entire family. Moth-repellency is built into the closet by lining walls, ceiling and floor with aromatic red cedar closet lining.

Three-Way Building Project

Put your carpentry skills to work in a building project that will (a) increase your storage facilities, (b) provide moth-repellent storage, and (c) increase the value of your house.

You can accomplish all three of these objectives by building a full-size cedar closet in the basement.

Since your project is neither difficult nor costly, The cost will vary, depending on the size of the closet you build, but whatever you spend you will get back when, as and if you will sell your house.

Extra closet space is always a plus, especially in a smaller house. If that extra closet space is moth-repellent, you have even more going for you. Real estate appraisers estimate it can bring $100 or more in the value of a house.

BUILDING A basement closet, calls for the framing of an area designated to be the closet. Secure 2 x 4 vertical studs 12 or 16 in. o.c. and secure them to 2 x 4's anchored to the floor and joists.

If the closet is to be located in a corner, nail along the outside wall and use 2 x 2 furring strips and anchor them vertically to the foundation wall. New cartridge-type, general purpose adhesive can be used to mount these furring strips without drilling into the concrete.

Whether your basement closet is "free-standing" or built into a wall or a wall, the cedar lining must be made to make the closet moth-repellent is nailed directly to the framing. No other backing is required.

On outside walls, however, a vapor barrier of some sort is recommended. Simply mount a plastic sheet to the furring strips, then nail the cedar lining over it.

ARMORIC RED cedar closet lining for home handyman use comes in pre-painted or natural or comes in varying sizes. The material is tongue-and-grooved along the sides and at each end to facilitate installation and to provide the need for having the lumber pieces laid over the studs.

The cedar pieces are applied horizontally to the framing, bottom up from the bottom. The pieces are mounted with the groove edge down. Face nailing is recommended, with small (4-d) finishing nails set just below the top surface.

To provide maximum moth-repellency, apply the cedar lining to the closet ceiling. To protect against basement moisture, provide the possibility of adding a floor to the closet and line it with cedar as well. Nail the cedar directly to the sub-flooring.

Depending on the width of the closet, it may be necessary to add doors to the closet for easy access to your garments. Be sure the doors close tightly—not airtight—and keep them closed so as to keep the cedar fumes locked in where they will do the most good.

Well-Planned for Family Traffic

Bob Brett of Brett Builders recently estimated house sales in the community to be up nearly 30% over the same period last year.

The builder credited much of the increase to the popularity of several basic models, particularly an attractive three-bedroom tri-level known as the "Challenger". With one-and-a-half baths, large family room and basement, this home is priced at $23,900 on a quarter-acre lot.

Brett noted that the house offers over 2500 sq. ft. of living area, and has a practical, well-planned traffic pattern for the growing family.

"The EXTERIOR of the "Challenger" attracts all visitors with its shuttered windows, gabled roofs, and combined brick and stained cedar paneling. The front entrance is set back under a protective extension of the roof. Inside, the large entryway, with eye-catching vinyl tile flooring, is set bright and airy. Past a spacious coat closet and ornamental wrought-iron railing, a short flight of steps invites the visitor up to the main living level. From this central point, it is but a few steps to kitchen and living room, or up to the sleeping level, or down to the family room and basement.

The living room has a wide view window overlooking the front porch. The dining room features a large double window for plenty of natural light. The kitchen can be entered from the main hall, the dining room or the family room. Here, a large corner of storage space. Fairview Gardens models are located on the west side of Wolf Road, two blocks north of Central.

The room is the rear entrance of the house. In another corner are the powder room, and inside entrance to garage and family room. The latter offers 544 sq. ft. of space, including a two-car garage has a big storage area to one side.

All three bedrooms of this model have plenty of window space and wide, sliding-door closets. The bathroom has a wide vanity and mirrored cabinet, a special linen alcove, and a second entrance from the Master Bedroom.

The latter also has its own private dressing room, with mirrored closet.

Fairview Gardens models are located on the west side of Wolf Road, in the Mt. Prospect area, two blocks north of Central. Models are open to the public daily from 10 a.m. till dusk.

Correlate Colors To Enhance Home

Blue and green are the dominating colors in the Princeton, one of five furnished model homes in Elk Grove Village. Combined with shades of contrasting yellow, orange and gold, they add to the quiet, airy beauty.

The Homecrest Company, with big pieces emphasizing interior designers of Addison, correlated colors to dominate the entire home, and interspersed more vivid colors for accents.

Lace-like white ornamental woodwork frames the entrance hall, separating it from the formal dining room, where blue wooden chairs with white bows surround a blue table - the floor is covered with a gold carpet.

The same shade of gold wall-to-wall carpet covers the living room floor, too. Here the dominant colors are a comfortable blue and brown floral couch, flanking a table with lamp and a blue floral arrangement. According to Richard Housner, the main purpose of any room should be expressed

THE PEBBLE stone patios floor in the family room is covered with a gold rug. The room is dominated by an oversized yellow davenport, facing two striped chairs on blue bamboo legs along a panelled wall, and a blue and white striped lamp table between them. Two other occasional chairs have natural colored bamboo legs and blue backs and seats.

Leading from the family room is a formal room with a contrasting patio, covered by drapes of a bold pattern of blue and green medieval warriors on a linen background. White ornamental iron chairs with yellow seats surround the round white ornate occasional chair in the adjoining breakfast room, the sets match the yellow drapes.

The

breakfast room opens into a sunroom with a contrasting patio, covered by drapes of a bold pattern of blue and green medieval warriors on a linen background. White ornamental iron chairs with yellow seats surround the round white ornate occasional chair in the adjoining breakfast room, the sets match the yellow drapes.

The

bedrooms, too, are vivid expressions of the same Housner theory, large rooms for comfort, smaller pieces and open surfaces for balance - and unity of color blends throughout.

THE MAIN floor bedroom features a gold carpet and matching bedspread, dramatic floor-to-ceiling green draperies behind the double doors, a dressing room on the side window. A full ceramic tile bath is white, yellow and silver serves this bedroom and is also accessible to the other main floor room, a bathroom.

"His" closet in this bedroom features double-row hanging arrangement, doubling the available space. "Hers" ton is a wall-to-wall closet.

Two more bedrooms upstairs have white paneled wall-to-wall and his and hers closets. One displays a large double bed with blue bedspread, blue bamboo-legged chair, light shades of white and gold striped carpet on the parquet floor.

The other upstairs bedroom features twin beds and orange bamboo-legged chairs, a light yellow striped rug on the parquet floor, white wood furniture, vivid gold and brown drapes.

These bedrooms share a full-ceramic tile white marbleized top vanity bath, silver fixtures and green shower curtain.

The Princeton is priced at $25,850. Other Elk Grove Village models are in the $20,000 to $26,000 price range.

Elk Grove Village is an established, close-in northern suburban community with its own, outstanding schools, shopping centers, swimming pool, recreational and cultural facilities and Loop transportation.

Exchange Clinic May 5

Pointers For Painters

If your spring cleaning includes painting this season take extra care to protect furniture and floors.

Spread newspapers on the floor before opening a single paint can.

To guard the surface of furniture and walls, keep a roll of paper towels handy, along with paint solvents - turpenines for oil base paint and water for plastic or latex paint.

With these at hand, spills and drips can be wiped up as soon as they fall. Spots and splashes are easy to remove when fresh, but a real problem when dry.

Whether it's a big spill from a can or a little drip from a brush, blot it immediately with paper towels. When most of the paint has been wiped up, dab the soiled towel into a soot, pet turpentine or water on it and use to remove additional paint from appliances, woodwork or fixtures. Dry the surface with a clean towel.

The fifth annual spring clinic on "Advanced Exchange" will be conducted by the International Traders Club Thursday, May 5, at the Drake Hotel, Chicago. Speaker is Howard M. Benedict, of Hamden, Conn., chairman.

The clinic immediately precedes the spring meeting of the National Association of Real Estate Boards at the Drake Hotel May 10. ITC is the exchange division of the National Institute of Real Estate Brokers, an affiliate of NAREB.

Enrollment will be limited to 125 Realtors and their salesmen. Realtor Benedict will be in a half hour workshop on its purpose is to assist participants in mastering modern exchange techniques and procedures in real estate as utilized by recognized experts in the field.

Among the subjects to be covered are client and property analysis, planning and projection, depreciation, tax aspects, motivation, counseling, and financing.

From Barren Prairie

Barren prairie land just a few years ago - today a complete community with over 16,000 residents is the record of Elk Grove Village.

Home builders, Custer Competition, creators of Elk Grove Village, one of the largest builders in the nation, are moderately-priced in the $19,000 to $27,000 range.

The new sites are spacious, with all utilities underground and all improvements paid for, with no threats of assessments. The location is less than ten minutes from Chicago, minutes on Highways (Rte. 72).

There are excellent public and parochial schools, new shopping centers, houses or homes, a community center, a modern hospital and excellent transportation. A new library and Altonia Bros. new hospital, the St. Altonia Hospital Auxiliary, will open.

Custer Industrial Park necessarily offers local job opportunities and helps carry the tax burden. "Indeed important," said Robert C. Winkler, Custer sales director for Elk Grove Village, "was a remarkably stable community.

For A Good Lawn

BY RICHARD DE LAND

Spring lawn care often presents three mysteries for the average homeowner. They include: fertilizer selection, lawn mower purchases, and sometimes proper cutting height.

Buying fertilizer for the lawn need not be a mystery. Just use these guides when examining materials being offered for sale.

Saving money may be important, but the economics of buying a few bags of fertilizer are not as important as what would be buying quantities of fertilizer. However, you can save by avoiding small packages. You may pay 10 to 20 times as much for fertilizer in the 1-pound bag compared to a larger bag.

BY LAW fertilizers must be properly labeled. This means there is no excuse to be misinformed about the active ingredients present, though you may be confused by extravagant claims in words and pictures. Fertilizers are sold on a basis of active ingredients. This is expressed in a three number code. The first number represents the percent of nitrogen, the second phosphorus and the third potassium. Lawn fertilizers should have at least 10 percent nitrogen.

Kentucky bluegrass and red fescue should not be cut closer than 1 1/4 inch. Cutting at a longer height will reduce the leaf surface, too much leaf surface and thus reduce the ability of the plant to manufacture new growth. The grass blades need to be cut to the production of food. If too much leaf surface is removed the plant draws food from the root reserves to start new growth.

Red fescue and ryegrass are commonly used for cutting formal and semiformal lawns. Ryegrass, when they are properly adjusted, sharp and is good operating condition, give a sharp cut that gives the lawn a well-groomed appearance.

Rotary mowers, in addition to cutting the grass, can be used to trim up ledges, paths and lawns, and to remove and for a limited amount of trimming.

Rotaries do not give as clean a finish as well as groomed appearance as a reel type mowers. The reel mowers removed when grass and weed control rather than appearance are the prime consideration.

In a Country Club Atmosphere

Today's building trends lean to the home with at least three bedrooms.

However, according to Fred Peterman, sales director, United Developers Company of Chicago, has introduced two and three bedroom town-and-garden homes which range from $36,200 to $29,500.

Regent Park, located on Kensington Road in Arlington Heights, less than a mile from the Randhurst shopping center, is a 45-acre tract featuring a private lake, shaded malls and winding walks.

The subdivision also has ranch, tri-level and Cape Cod houses, and condominium units.

ALL TOWN-and-garden models have stainless steel ranges, air conditioners, built-in microwaves, dishwashers and disposals, insulated sliding glass doors for indoor-outdoor living, wood-burning fireplaces, floor-to-ceiling closets (mirrored in the master), chrome vanity, marbled vanity tops, bathrooms and ceramic tiled floors and walls, plus a floored entry foyer, laundry closet, built-in garage, central heat, kitchen cabinets, recessed paneling, and storm sash and screens for all movable windows, except those in the basement.

Three models are available, all featuring family or dining room areas, basements and from 1-1/2 to 2-1/2 baths.

In Regent Park of Arlington Heights, town-and-garden houses and condominiums surround a well landscaped natural seven acre lake. The owners share a swimming pool and tennis courts in addition to the lake.

Highlight of the three bedroom plan is a fireplace in the master bedroom area. The models are two-story and/or split-level styles.

In a country club-like atmosphere, Regent Park offers its own swimming pool and tennis courts, all available to town-and-garden and condominium residents.

A small monthly charge maintains town-and-garden homeowners to a complete maintenance program for lawns, gardens and house exterior. The service includes cutting, tree and shrub trimming, exterior painting and snow plowing of walks and driveways.

Dennis Fitz-Patrick (left) and Dan Sase share some of the data they collected on unidentified flying objects. The two Arlington youths spent their spring vacation from college checking into UFO reports in Michigan.

Pair Spend Vacations Chasing UFO Tales

UFO or not UFO? The question to avoided the careers of two Arlington college students who decided to spend their spring vacation investigating for themselves.

Don Sase, 22, N. Duncan, and Dennis Fitz-Patrick, 21, 319 N. Kenosha, were the two teenagers and Hillside, Ill., to make their own interviews.

Without any form of introduction, the two students, with the police chief of Hillside, the police chief of Detroit, and the police chief of Detroit and his family. All have received considerable press coverage.

On the morning Don and Dennis arrived in Detroit, Michigan, they found the field where their son and brother had sighted a UFO. They made an appointment to interview the man who had seen the field from the UFO was released. The man who had passed them back and talk to his husband, who had been a witness to the UFO, Robert Taylor, Dexter police chief, and after obtaining a phone number, the two students filed March 20 at 8:30 p.m. on the UFO sightings, the young men returned to the same house.

MANNION told the boys that even though Dr. J. Allen Hynek, director of the Air Force's U.S. Air Force, reported the UFO to be a swamp, he was sure there was an object beyond the lights.

Mannion told the young men that he had seen a UFO himself and he feels it was too cold the night of the sighting for the object to be a swamp.

The object in the field as terrified Mannion's cows and barking dogs they will not return to the field. Mannion, who is the young man, Mannion never believed in outer space travel, but he is a little worried.

The Waukesha County Sheriff's office said that Frank Kolsman, 21, Hillside, had watched the object for some time and then proceeded into the house. The young man is an attempt to locate the object, and to see what it is.

"Upon entering the lower edge of the room, the young man, Kolsman, and his son, Ronald, and as Frank Mannion looked in the direction indicated by the young man, he saw, and in just an instant, re-appeared across the room, a distance of 300 feet."

IT WAS in this time that the investigating officers were, according to the reporter, "a bit shocked" by the object, which they had seen. The two officers had the object for some time and then proceeded into the house. The young man is an attempt to locate the object, and to see what it is.

Safety in other areas was also discussed, but the two officers had the object for some time and then proceeded into the house. The young man is an attempt to locate the object, and to see what it is.

Education would involve driving habits in Arlington Heights. They proposed that the commission divide its traffic safety efforts into three sections: what he called the "three E's," education, enforcement and education.

UNDER engineering, he told the members to learn if there were any traffic problems in the community that would benefit from engineering.

Yesterday's meeting was intended to determine the scope of action. One of the main missions will take in its purpose to improve traffic safety practices in and around the village.

John Kolsman, "representative" to traffic safety school, has one of several proposals to present.

Churches Police Nab His Prey, Cyclist Says Youth

A series of church burglaries in the area have been traced up to a statement that McHenry youth arrested after Easter Sunday services at St. Peter's on Chur-chase, Illinois, was charged with police.

Walter R. Mills, 19, was arrested shortly after the robbery and was held in custody by police by a witness who said he saw Mills running from the church.

Detective Sgt. Maurice Engle said that a statement made by his witness indicated that Mills had learned of St. Peter's on March 13, at which time he obtained the key to the church from the church.

He ALSO said he took money from St. James' Catholic Church in Bellwood, Bellwood, and admitted the robbery to police.

When arrested, Mills was observed operating his motorcycle and was wearing a leather jacket.

What he did with the stolen money, he replied, "I don't know."

Kolsman and his partner went around that route a second time, then police said, and the two men were found north of Kenosha and Oskosh, where they had been driving in a western direction.

What he did with the stolen

money, he replied, "I don't know."

He was arrested and released to appear in court May 11.

SAFETY — On other matters was also discussed by the committee. Wards suggested contacting for ideas similar to those now functioning in other villages.

Also proposed was a bi-annual publication of traffic prevention, information on poisons and a means of distributing publications.

Walsh said, "The village will supply the paper if someone (the newspaper) can put it in a presentable form."

The Safety Council Commission is composed of village officials and is a committee of the commission without pay. The commission is appointed by the village council.

Its members — James Minnie, Howard Lester, James Kline, Mrs. Kenneth Wells, Police Chief John J. Coughlin, C. O. Coughlin, Village Manager Leonard A. Hanon, Trustee John J. Coughlin and Fire Chief Harvey Coughlin.

GUIDE — Minnie, representing the commission, said the cases in a village for four weeks at a time and then is sent to the county for the remaining 16 weeks of the year by the Arlington Police Department.

It's A Great Game, Anyway

Lynne Baldwin, who is the sister of Mrs. Max Britton, got off an airplane at O'Hare, came here, and then took a bus to the airport to see the Gumpert play Chicago. She is a great fan.

The Brittons, who saw that game was in California, her nephew, Max Jr., who is on vacation from Brady, took her to see the White Sox—California game. She enjoyed all four evenings of the Britton's visit.

Pete Gallo:

One year ago, someone gave the children of Theodore Witt two ducks and they were promptly named Sammie and John. The next day as possible, John began laying eggs. By that time, the children had named the ducklings and were too late to correct that mistake.

It is the first year of having animals and the two young, first-grade and third-grade girls know just what can be done from experience.

John, who is working as an incubator in the basement, where they are turned three times a day.

Sammie is doing daily her work of incubating the ducklings, belonging to the family who live in Kenosha.

"Actually, we have two sets, when things get too east, Sammie goes to the east and the other way around," said Mrs. Wittsch, who enjoys the animals and the children collected to keep the young, happy.

Brooks, who already mentioned, are Honey West, a hamster and Andrew, a guinea pig.

There were also two sets (at least) of rabbits, which are backed up with Sammie and John.

Without also has two sets of tropical fish.

"My husband says the pets are his children, but I know that he loves all kinds of animals," said Mrs. Wittsch. "He was a little boy, Todd, and Eddie take good care of all our pets. I don't worry about them, worry about it's really for fun, and if a widow gets dull," said Mrs. Wittsch.

The Devil

Catherine Hodges, who lives on North York, has just returned from a vacation with her family in Disney.

Her brother, Tom Wood, who is a police officer in Detroit with his two children, Cathleen and Michael, told the story of his family's old and new. Billy, Billy hearing a noise, and the like, called down, "Who's there?"

It was really his father who decided to have some fun with Billy.

"The Devil" he said Tom, "you're going to see me." "Oh yes," answered Billy. Then, "show you face."

The judge said, "The committee recommended that this provision be made effective immediately."

Off the Sofa, Men -- There's Yard Work to Be Done

It is that time of the year again. Cox Saturday afternoon on the sofa are over. It's spring and the gardener's heart turns — not to love — but to work.

The yards must be manicured, flowerbeds hoed, trees pruned, trees spaded and trees planted and seeds and bulbs sown.

At the end of the week, the go-getters were already at it.

A drive along Arlington Heights Rd. would one woman pruned a hedge, another planted a tulip bulb, and another spading flowerbeds, and a teen-ager raking leaves.

AN EMPLOYEE at Baker Furniture reported that the plants are back.

"The real smartys already have got the jump on it," he said.

Magnolias and birch and dogwood should be pruned soon, he said.

A drive at Holtzman Seed Store said the seed selling season is just around the corner.

"The spring needs 70 per cent of its seed sales taken within the best time to start fertilizing yards.

"IT'S BEST to get an edge on it," a Baker's Family Nursery man advised. "Fertilizing will reduce minimum damage . . . and just a little more work will do it enough. You got to keep it up."

Mrs. Richard N. Paluch, 705 N. Dryden Pl., was off to the garden to spring yardwork.

She said a number of the most common weeds are still up.

Schools Halt Merger Talks

Mrs. Eleanor Thomas (Dut. 54), who helped prepare a report on curriculum, reported that the average class size has an average class size of 32. Dut. 59 had a class size of 23, Dut. 54 of 14, and a 27 class average if figures are adjusted for kindergartens.

BERNSTEIN commented that the 10 schools in Dut. 59 have unusually small class sizes, which is reflected in their class averages.

Quoted as to what Dut. 54 thinks of the merger, Mrs. Thomas said, "I think the 11 schools, Mrs. Thomas said, the libraries in each school get together at reunions."

Ed. Strobel (Dut. 54) and Vance Folkman (Dut. 59)

who prepared a real estate report concluded that Dut. 59's average value per pupil may not pass Dut. 59's average value per pupil.

"It is true," stated Ernie Rich, a Dut. 59 Des Plaines resident, "but the financial consideration is the main reason for wanting a school merger."

Rich said, "The school in Berwyn had 14,000 students, while ours has 10,000."

"The schools are about 1,000 years apart."

When the schools merged, the only Dut. 59 board member in favor of the merger was the superintendent, Dick Hess, who said that "10 years from now, when we merge, we will be voted no reluctantly."

Bernstein, who leaves the school board in June, said, "We have little time to merge."

Three Dut. 54 board members, Fred Downing, the only Dut. 54 president, and the two Dut. 54 trustees, were absent.

DOWNEY, rebuking the assumption that schools do not need money, said, "We need money to carry out our programs. We don't start things that don't finish."

He said, "We have to think about the real reason for being here, the education of our children."

Smart Cadet

Cadet William Martinez, graduate of Martinez High School, Michael J. Martinez, 15, & Michael J. Martinez, 13, have been cited for their participation in the Missouri Air Academy Junior School, Mexico, Mo.

Before cadetting can be done, boys must attend several after school training sessions to learn the basics of the program.

"It's better to learn right now," Martinez said. "The number of training classes will be increased sooner rather than later."

First, to qualify, a boy must be at least 14 years old and have a work permit.

If a boy is 15 or older, a social security number must also be furnished for boys 14 and 15 to find work this summer.

Boys are to work 20 hours a week.

It is at nearby Rolling Green Cemetery, Clay, where about 350 boys will be housed.

Some Day

Speaking of Judge Robert C. Buckley, he and the Arlington Police Department have a more important thing to worry about.

"There seems to be a lot of guys," the judge was told.

As Buckley's reply, there are others who do as much bucking.

Judge Buckley used to be the police magistrate in the 3d district, a sprawling arrangement of 29 communities and 12 communities. The district includes Mount Prospect and Barrington, but not the judge's hometown.

"One thing that has made me realize is that Buckley's been the spokesman of the Arlington Heights police," the judge said.

"Just the other day one of the other police commissioners came to me on the first floor of the department. He said he had a case and that 90 of the people arrested had been released."

The policeman said the policemen are making good arrests. They are most efficient and they know how to present their case.

Looking at it from the judge's side, he has made no secret of his desire for a police officer, or guilty plea, that establishes whether a police officer is guilty or not guilty.

"In some other departments the ratio between arrests and guilty pleas is 50-50," the judge said.

The judge feels that if a policeman is brought into court, he is not being given the driver a ticket and allowing him to continue driving a faulty vehicle.

Police, politicians, and reasonable arrest policies, and the type of Magistrate Buckley strike a proper balance on the scales of justice.

Vantage Point

Dr. Bob Lahl, president of the newly formed College in the Forest, has a message for the public: "Buy a sandwich at the Canteen Wednesday."

Both Dr. Lahl and Roy McDermott, his assistant, talked about the college's future in the four days since the college opened with beef sandwiches at the Canteen Wednesday.

Both Dr. Lahl and Roy McDermott talked about Thursday's board meeting. They were armed with facts and figures to be presented to the board of education.

Their judgment was that of the architects and consultants who attended the board meeting as the elected group followed their recommendations to the public and to the electorate with a $77,000 bond issue on June 4. Each voter will be asked to estimate the cost of the entire project at $25,000.

The amount of money will pick up the tab for 75 per cent of the overall project cost.

The PROPOSED community college in the Forest, recently completed in 1960, is 83,000 square feet of educational plant. It will be able to house 7,000 students and will be expandable, if the population of the Forest grows even higher than present estimates.

And that is where Dr. Lahl's dedication to the Forest comes in.

He indicated that the community college will provide a solid education, based on basic, fundamental college subjects.

DR. LALITI said that a. a. while the college would be modest and up to date in all things, he hoped that it would feature a lot of fundamental subjects in its curriculum.

Judicial reform made him a strong advocate of the 3d district, a sprawling arrangement of 29 communities and 12 communities. The district includes Mount Prospect and Barrington, but not the judge's hometown.

"One thing that has made me realize is that Buckley's been the spokesman of the Arlington Heights police," the judge said.

The policeman said the policemen are making good arrests. They are most efficient and they know how to present their case.

IT IS expected that the new educational curriculum will be the most student-centered. This is the new year's course of study that will enable students to prepare for an additional two years at a four-year school.

By preparing this course of study, the college will be able to do with it, the college president said.

What Dr. Lahl "has to do with it" is significant in early reports. The new curriculum has been delivered to all of the students. The college will be able to expand to a large extent and schools and to go to four years and schools to the basic in the district.

THE DIRECTOR'S chela

of instructional affairs

is additional indication that the college will be a student-centered type of curriculum that will prepare students for additional education.

Dr. Pauli has an unusual record which could be counted toward the degrees or towards additional courses.

Only 17.5 per cent of those surveyed — and the sampling was not large — will be interested in watching the progress of Dr. Lahl's dedication to the basic in the district.

A survey of the attitudes of parents of students of the community college

indicated that parents are not too pleased with the new year's course of study that will enable students to prepare for an additional two years

It will be a well-balanced program of education — practical as well as vocational — to make the community college a success.

It will take practical administrators, willing to shift with the changing times in education, and a dedicated administrator who does not have to be a "big shot" to be successful.

And most important, it will take a dedicated teacher who is convinced that the "Three R's" still make educational sense.
